

Previous Guelph Arts Council Youth Opportunities Award Recipients

- 2009 – John F. Ross Student Aalyieh Afshar for mounting a youth art show
- 2010 – Guelph Little Theatre and Season Singers for youth to learn soundboard technology
– Wesley Bates for a youth graphic short story project in Wellington County
- 2011 – Guelph Spoken Word for a youth workshop series in conjunction with youth poetry slams at Guelph Public Library
- 2012 – Children’s Art Collective (Melissa Mazar and Carolyn Meili) for a Grade 3 children’s self-portrait show at Art on the Street
- 2013 – no award
- 2014 – Nathan Gatten, in partnership with portrait artist Meredith Blackmore, for a series of free “Try-It” workshops targeted to youth 14 to 24 years
– Children’s Art Factory (Melissa Mazar) for a collaborative project that will see Guelph youth engaged in the creation of a piece of “meaningful public art
– Guelph Film Festival for a workshop for teens focusing on using accessible smart phone and tablet technology to create “innovative, ‘guerilla-style” documentary films
- 2015 – Shera Mekhail for Creation Station, an inclusive space for diverse youth to express and connect with the community and each other through meaningful art experiences
- 2016 – Jessica Jang for her Print Power Project, a free community-based weekend-long learning experience for youth aged 14 to 19
– Shelldale Better Beginnings, Better Futures for a new art program for girls in Grades 7 to 12 in the Onward Willow neighbourhood area of high-density housing and a large immigrant and refugee population
- 2017 – Our Lady of Lourdes Catholic High School, for a collaboration between manufacturing and visual arts students to create a found-metal sculpture
– Artsy Activists, to establish a discussion, art, and action-based collective for youth, aged 14 to 19, including but not limited to LGBTQ2S+, female-identified, Indigenous, immigrant and youth of colour